One thousand bags of sugar, worth $12,000, were this morning taken out of the cellar of grocery firm of C. Burkhalter & Co., 121 and 123 Hudson street, which made an assignment a few days ago.

The sugar was taken out by order of the supreme Court on replevia papers obtained by Robert Crooks & Co.

This was but one out of thirteen repleving thus far placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Ferguson, and which range in sums from $12,000 to $303.75, the latter representing goods sold to the Burkhalter nrm by Gardiner & Delafield, olive oil merchants. While rumors of fraud were rife, nobody

A representative, who is also at the head of one of the shipping departments of Robert Crooks & Co., superintended the removal of the sugar under the replevin papers. Referring to the matter, he said to an Evenino Woslo reporter:

"It looks queer that the Burkhalters should have ordered $12,000 worth of sugar from us on the eve of their failure.

"The replevin was obtained on the specific ground that C. Burkhalter & Co. got the sugar from us by representing fraudulently that they were solvent when they knew that they were not. We have been dealing with the firm only since last year."

Charles H. Fancher, Fresident of the Irving Bank, who is the assignee, said to The Eventow Wost preporter:

"I am able to state positively that there was not the shadow of fraud in the assignment.
